

Gabrielle Christina....

Gabrielle Christina is an author, speaker, fashionista, media personality, and designer. She is the author of the blog Planet Gabrielle. She is also a passionate Anti-Bullying advocate. After witnessing and being the target of numerous “girl attacks” she discovered that she had a gift of encouraging other girls to stand against injustice and the strength to confront the behavior. She believes that girls are responsible for helping girls fight negative peer pressure and bullying.

Gabrielle is an online warrior. She has helped many teens find answers to some of life’s “hard” questions. She has helped girls decide not to commit suicide, how to talk with their parents, and how to make smart choices in relationships. She has formed a network of young women who help one another recognize and avoid sexual predators and has shown them how to report their findings. Gabrielle also has a huge online following of her writing and weekly communicates with her reading community.

She currently serves as the Teen Advisor for several organizations, including The Handle Your Business Girl Empowerment Zone and the Triple P (Precious, Pretty, Powerful) Young Women’s Anti-Bullying & Leadership Initiative where she advises on issues that impact today’s young women.

She regularly speaks to young women about character, self image, and empowerment. She also talks openly with adults about how to bridge the gap between today’s Millennials and the other generations. Her favorite word for adults is simply, “listen” to what this generation is saying before passing judgement.

Gabrielle is a 2016 graduate of The Powerful Awesome Intelligent Communicators (PAIC) Academy and plans to attend the Art Institute to study Fashion Merchandising. She loves photography, fashion, music, nail polish and make-up.

She is the CEO of Be You Blue Publishing and her first book, Dear Christina G, published in collaboration with Handle Your Business Girl Publishing will be out in October 2016. In 2017, she will be launching the Be You Blue Anthology Project where she will help other girls write and publish their stories. Her second book, Mismatched will be out in 2017.

Her website is www.gabriellechristina.rocks.

To book Gabrielle Christina for your event contact - info@gabriellechristina.rocks